

POLICY

Interactions with Children

Purpose

This policy indicates the ways that are appropriate for staff to interact with the service's children to ensure that they feel safe, supported and respected. It is the responsibility of every staff member to make certain that the dignity and rights of every child are to be maintained at all times at the service.

Emotional development and social relationships are enhanced through thoughtful and sophisticated approaches to conversation, discussion and the promotion of children's language and communication. Children who experience relationships that are built on respect, fairness, cooperation and empathy are given the opportunity to develop these qualities themselves. When children have positive experiences of interactions they develop an understanding of themselves as significant and respected, and feel a sense of belonging.

- Genuinely seek children's input, respect their ideas and take their suggestions on board.
- Our educators will listen empathetically to children when they express their emotions, reassure them that it is normal to experience positive and negative emotions and guide children to remove themselves from situations where they are experiencing frustration, anger or fear.

- Work collaboratively with staff and others to develop or review an individual behaviour guidance plan for their child, where appropriate.

Children's rights, Family and Cultural Values

Interactions within the setting are greatly enhanced when children's rights and family and cultural values are given due consideration and respect. Administrative procedures, initial conversations, documentation and ongoing communication with children and families are a reference point for interactions and a foundation for authentic and respectful communication.

Communicating and Listening

Educators and staff must use listening as a foundation for interactions. Listening is based on observation and in leaving spaces in conversations and communication, suspending judgement and in giving full attention to children as they communicate. Truly attending to children's communication promotes a strong culture of listening.

POLICY

Interactions with Children

Role Modelling

Educators model positive interactions when they show care, have empathy and respect for children, educators, staff and families.

Principles for Behavioural Management

Staff respect individual children's needs and differences in age, ability and experience regarding issues surrounding behaviour management and they are happy to discuss individual family expectations with parents. There may be times when staff will need to negotiate management strategies with parents to suit the needs of individual children.

- Wherever possible, children and staff will negotiate and determine boundaries and rules
- Rules will be reasonable considering the age, development and individual characteristics of the children
- Rules will be consistently enforced
- Children will be encouraged for desirable behaviour
- It is the behaviour that is praised or criticised, not the child
- Staff to present a good example through positive role modelling
- Children are encouraged to make appropriate choices

In response to unacceptable behaviour, staff will:

- Redirect the child or remove the child from the situation if necessary
- Advise children of the consequences of continuing with the behaviour
- Remind children of desirable behaviour
- Explain to children how behaviour results in consequences
- Actively listen to children's feelings and discuss the rules
- Help children to return to play
- Communicate with family should there be a need
